PRESS RELEASE

Telugu States Emerge as Important Contributors to Mutual Fund Growth with ₹2.95 Lakh Crore in AUM

- Telangana's AUM crosses ₹2.12 lakh crore, registering 19% growth over July 2025, with Hyderabad accounting for 87% of the state's assets
- Andhra Pradesh's AUM rises 23% over July 2025 to ₹82,409 crore, with Visakhapatnam and Vijayawada accounting for about 20% and 10% respectively
- SIPs continue to gain traction in both states, reflecting increasing participation in disciplined, long-term investing

Hyderabad, 18th September 2026: The Association of Mutual Funds in India (AMFI) today highlighted the growing mutual fund participation in Telangana and Andhra Pradesh, with the two neighbouring states together accounting for ₹2.95 lakh crore in mutual fund assets. The data also points to growing adoption of SIPs and a greater emphasis on disciplined, long-term investing.

Telangana's mutual fund AUM stood at ₹2,12,856 crore as of July 2026, registering a 19% increase over July 2025. The state ranks 8th among all States and Union Territories and accounts for approximately 2.5% of India's total mutual fund assets. Its investor base has also expanded, with 82.24 lakh folios, representing about 2.9% of the country's total folios.

Andhra Pradesh's total assets under management stood at ₹82,409 crore as of July 2026, registering a 23% increase over July 2025 and accounting for close to 1% of India's mutual fund assets. The state ranks 15th among States and Union Territories, with its folio count crossing 79.44 lakh.

Within Telangana, Hyderabad remains the largest mutual fund centre, with an AUM of ₹1,84,261 crore, accounting for 87% of the state's total. Hyderabad's AUM has grown 18% over July 2025. The city ranks 8th among India's top 30 cities and contributes 2.10% of the country's mutual fund assets. Its 54.44 lakh folios account for 66.2% of Telangana's total folios.

In Andhra Pradesh, Visakhapatnam leads with an AUM of ₹16,614 crore, representing about one-fifth of the state's total, followed by Vijayawada with ₹8,337 crore. The contribution of these cities reflects the broadening of mutual fund participation beyond a single urban centre.

SIPs are an important feature of the investment landscape in both states. Telangana's SIP AUM stands at ₹47,975 crore, or 22% of the state's total AUM, supported by over 26.09 lakh SIP folios. In Andhra Pradesh, SIP AUM stands at ₹26,820 crore, or 32% of the state's total AUM, with 26.47 lakh SIP folios. These figures indicate sustained participation through systematic investing rather than reliance on market timing.

Investor participation is broadening as well. Telangana has over 19.60 lakh unique investors, of whom 24.42% are women. Andhra Pradesh has 20.94 lakh unique investors, with women accounting for 23.60%. The corresponding national average is 26.74%.

The economic backdrop provides a substantial base for further financial participation. Telangana's GDP stood at ₹17.82 lakh crore in 2025-26, accounting for 5.0% of India's GDP, while Andhra Pradesh's GDP stood at ₹17.62 lakh crore, accounting for 4.9%.

Speaking on the numbers, Mr. Venkat N Chalasani, Chief Executive, AMFI, said:

"Telangana and Andhra Pradesh are both witnessing meaningful growth in mutual fund participation. Hyderabad continues to account for a significant share of Telangana's assets, while Andhra Pradesh is seeing growth across multiple cities, including Visakhapatnam and Vijayawada. The increasing adoption of SIPs is particularly encouraging, as it reflects a disciplined approach to investing. As participation deepens, investor awareness, informed decision-making and a long-term perspective will remain important."

AMFI reiterated that investor awareness, SIP-led participation, appropriate asset allocation and disciplined long-term investing remain important to strengthening financial resilience. The growth across Telangana and Andhra Pradesh reflects the expanding reach of mutual funds and increasing participation by investors across cities and segments.
